Pyrenean High Route

The Pyrenean High Route is a demanding lineal trek through the Pyrenees range, from the Atlantic to the Mediterranean coast, transiting for the most part along the main axis of this mountain range, out of trails. As we skirt the outskirts of the great crests and peaks we will enjoy the most spectacular and emblematic places, all in a great mountain environment.

In a seven days journey, we offer to you that part of the Pyrenean High Route that runs from the Ordesa National Park to the Posets - Madaletas Park, thus uniting the impressive landscapes that house the three highest peaks in the Pyrenees: Monte Perdido, Posets, and Aneto.
